

CELL THERAPY

Cell therapy aims to awaken dormant cells within the human body, therefore stimulating the growth and function of existing tissue and repairing or regenerating old and malfunctioning cells. Cell Therapy offers what vitamins, minerals and other conventional or natural treatments cannot. It can provide the exact components necessary for injured or diseased tissue and heal and regenerate. While most pharmaceutical drugs work by suppressing certain symptoms over a short period of time and only for as long as they are taken, Cell Therapy stimulates the body's own healing and revitalizing powers and exerts a long term effect which would last years through a monthly based program.
